

A NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLER

PIER'S OPERA-HOUSE.—This establishment was handsomely filled last evening, to witness for the first time in Cincinnati, the new drama of impersonation, entitled The Hidden Hand. The play is the work of a versatile actress, Mrs. Barney Williams, who appears in eight different characters and costumes, transforming herself from one occult personage to another with a rapidity and ease that has not been equaled in any which was played seven fifty nights in London, appears destined to become a favorite in Cincinnati. The other pieces played were Samy Maguire and A Kiss in the Dark. This evening the same bill will be repeated.

Waco's THEATRE.—The Germania drama continues at this place of amusement. The company is talented, the pieces are well chosen on the stage, yet, so far, the audiences have not been remunerative. The sparsity of the German population in respect to the dramatic native drama seems rather remarkable. The play of The Prisoner was well rendered—played it with genuine spirit—last evening. The theater will be closed this coming. On Friday evening will be presented the new and original comedy of The First Encounter, said to be a production of uncommon spirit and interest.

ment on behalf of the plaintiff. The case against the aunt's counsel submitted the case without speech.

Judge Storer then proceeded to close the jury. "If the jury should find there was no conspiracy," he said, "I shall be taking to bring this party before the Probate Judge, there was an end of the case; but otherwise, the plaintiff has a right to recover. It is averred by plaintiff that the defendant was a member of the Grand Lodge of this Society, and until within a year or so was impressed with the idea that it was right; but—whether from study or revelation it is for the jury to say—he came to the conclusion that it was wrong, and he was founded on correct principles that the usages of the Society were not consistent with well-organized associations; and among other changes he proposed to abolish the custom and practice of celibacy in the institution."

It was for the jury to say whether there was or was not a conspiracy, and it was reform or destruction, and say whether ne defendants, as cautious, prudent men had the right thus to conclude; whether or not more creditable in their conduct than he was, more than that he was inducing, for sinister purposes, a reformation into an institution which would tend to destroy it. In considering the testimony jury would have to make allowances for position they were in.

After about three hours' deliberation a jury brought in a verdict for the defendant.

The plaintiffs' counsel moved for a trial.

CONVICTIONS.—A. J. Couch was convicted before Judge Carter of the larceny of a horse and wagon, the property of Henry Brooks Joseph Bell (a colored man) was for-

NEWPORT NEWS.—Miss Bella Craig, daughter of Captain Craig, of this city, was yesterday married to Mr. W. H. Goodin, of St. Louis. The wedding was a gay affair, and passed off with great ecelst. The newly-wedded couple departed for Louisville, by the way of Frankfort, with a very select party of friends for a safe and pleasant tour. Evan D. Southgate, a promising young man of this city, was matrimonially united y-

On Tuesday, Miss Turpin, at the residence of the bride's father, near Carrollton, Ky., was informed that a woman named this name had been changing her location, and that she had been in the city. She had been in the city for some time, and was carrying off two such beautiful prizes, and was actually how it occurred, and was theoretically attributing the cause to the present state of affairs in the South, where there are feeding, receding, and receding.

case, which frequently baffles the skill of the best physicians.

[The following cure, from the Pastor of September 27, has been the cause of relief to so many persons suffering from diphtheria that in obedience to the wishes of a number of our patrons, we have determined to produce it. The same treatment will afford relief in almost all diseases of the throat, and will be found useful in any case you may be troubled in this manner:—

Diphtheria and its Cure—Simple and Effective Remedy for the Disease.—In the early stages of the complaint, which is always accompanied by soreness and swelling of the throat, let the patient use a simple solution of salt and water, as a gargle, every fifteen minutes. At the same time, moisten a piece made warm as the patient can bear it, bind it around his throat, renewing it often as the gargle is administered, and the meanwhile sprinkle fine salt between flannel and the neck. Use inwardly a tonic or stimulant, either separately, or combined with the gargle, as you think proper. The treatment, as far as is seen, is extremely simple, and if used in the earlier stage of the disease, will effect a complete cure.

THE CEMETERY.—Dr. Foster, the Physician, visited the grave-yard a day or two since, and there discovered two hunting and shooting birds, running over the graves, breaking flowers and shrubs, and in a careless manner destroying plants which required months of attentive labour to rear.

SCHOOL EXHIBITION.—The teachers of the schools are preparing the scholars for an exhibition previous to the coming holidays.

Accident—W. J. Newall, bridge-keeper at Rocky Central, had to close the bridge near Bank Lick yesterday, and was severely injured. An accident will not prove fatal, although N. will be confined to his bed some time, before he will be able to resume his duties.

Successive—W. E. Ashbrook, the acting Sheriff, yesterday applied for, and obtained a marriage license. When the event will occur we are not advised.

PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.—The statistics
